The Currency Question.

We are pleased to see in the last Advertiser under the caption of "Inflation" an article couched in language that indicates the writer to be fully impressed with the importance of the subject, and who treats the views we have put forth from time to time with that fairness which the discussion demands. We have said in a former article that we are not wedded to the views on the currency question which our articles contain; but that our object was, and we repeat, still is, to provoke discussion as to what is the best mode of promoting the best interests of the Kingdom and people of Hawaii

There is always safety in discussion, because, by examination and argument, we may arrive at proper conclusions, without which it is next to impossible to do so. The writer of the article in the Advertiser, who is evidently a new hand at the bellows, takes exception to our views, and in doing so, marshals an array of figures from the financial budgets of France, England and the United States, to prove that it is unwise to issue more than one dollar of paper for one of coin, of which the paper is the representative, and contents himself with that declaration, and then rests his case. This may appear all very well for the author of the article, but we opine, the public require something more than the reassertion of exploded dogmas in finance to satisfy them on so important a subject, at a time like the present. The Advertiser man acknowledges that there is monetary embarrasement among the people of these Islands, and seems to think that it would be wise to adopt some measure of relief, but at Sur Jose, California, August 1st was the warm-milest in that valley for two or three years, the the manuscr ranging in different localities from 95 to 18th in the shade, necording to surroundings. The heat of the shade, necording to surroundings. The heat of the shade, necording to surroundings. The heat of the samesphere was somewhat increased by the fact that a large fire has been raging in the manuscribe west of the valley and another large fire is sported in the mocutains about twenty miles anothered of the city.

ways expected that the objector will not stop CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC with a mere objection, but will, as a logical sequence, make a counter proposition and support it by argument, in order to show his superior position, and the strength of argument with which it is supported. This is the usual course with writers who claim credit for either wisdom or erudition. We are sorry to find that the Advertiser man has totally failed We regret to learn that J. M. Davidson, Esq., who for upwards of two years and a hair, has resided on these Islands, is about to leave ms. Female College, Ohio, now married and residing at Rock Creek, Kansas, will be read with pleasure for its literary merit, as well as its case and smoothness are all in good health and in the main are a as a piece of descriptive composition. A lady who can write so well should not bury her talents under a bushel, but should exercise her rare gifts for the delectation of others. With a little practice the author of the letter would occupy no mean position as one of the many gifted female authors who are gaining fame and fortune by their literary labor.

Rock Cherk, Jefferson Co., June 10. To the Editor of the Oberlin, (Ohio), Gazette: A few items concerning our experiences in emi-grating may prove of interest to your readers. Rock Creek is at present simply a point on the A. T. & Santa Fe R'y, distant some thirty four miles south-west of Atchison. The village, in the germ, consists of a small depot and two dwelling houses. In one of the latter is the Post Office. The section is faid out in village lots, to any one of which a good title can be obtained. On all slide of this center farms are being rapidly taken up and improved, and consequently an increased demand arises for village im provements. At present we age obliged to drive seven miles for our ordinary farm supplies. Cannot some one of the many good grocers in Oberlin come to our aid? We have church privilleges within six miles, and occasionally have preaching at the the school house in the next district. We hope and expect to have a school-house built in our own distriet this Fall. Our lot has fallen among intelligent, christian people, and we are all interested in obtaining the best advantages for ourselves and our chil dren. It has been our fortune to secure one of the finest farms in the ricinity in point of fertility of soil and natural advantages. It is located one mile from the station, contains only six or seven acres of untill-able land, that being the most desirable spot for a dwelling house and yard, harns and out houses. A fine creek forms the northern boundary, furnishing plenty of water for stock and garden. A cold spring, near at hand, supplies us with delicious water. Some large elm and wild cherry trees along the slope of the knotl on which the house is located, are a delight to our eyes, and furnish homes for a great variety of birds, while their branches are festioned with luxuriant grape vines. All around our little dwelling is spread a thick carpet of waving green flocked with flowers of varied for and bue. Many which we cultivate at the east are natives of this soil In about six weeks the larvæ fall to the ground, and bury themselves in the earth, where they are said to remain seventeen years. The perfect insects make their appearance about the last of May in countless numbers; the ground in many places being honey-combed with the round holes made by them in issu-ing from the earth. They make a harsh, rasping noise, now like the katydid, again like the croaking frog. The noise is made by the males, and the chirr can be heard for more than half a mile, sounding like the distant hum of machinery.

As in other places, the season has been very backward here. Extremes of heat and cold, with high winds and long continued drouth, has eccasioned much anxiety among farmers, especially those who have large fields of wheat. We were just beginning to feel the bad effects of the weather in the corn field and garden, when, Sabbath afternoon, the spell was broken by a storm of rain, terrible in its intensity, accompanied by high wind and hail. It did no damage in this immediate vicinity, but we received a faint impression of what the cyclone must have been which so recently passed near us. But I am making my letter too long. Let me say that there is a free and independent life here, to say nothing of future wealth, for whoever comes with a brave heart, and habits of patient, persevering industry.

Yours traly, M. C. H.
